1. BACKGROUND INFORMATION PROVIDED BY GMO-Z.COM TRUST COMPANY, INC.

GMO-Z.com Trust Company, Inc. (the “Company”) is a New York State Limited Purpose Trust Company. The Company received its trust charter from the New York Department of Financial Services in 2020 and is a subsidiary of financial and IT conglomerate GMO Internet Group, Inc. (the “Parent”) from Japan.

The Parent is an internet and financial services industry leader, developing and operating Japan’s most widely used domain, hosting and cloud, ecommerce, security, and payment solutions. The Parent also includes the world’s largest online FX trading platform, as well as online advertising, internet media, and cryptocurrency related services. The Parent (TSE: 9449) is headquartered in Tokyo, Japan.

2. STABLECOIN BACKGROUND - GYEN

The GYEN Stablecoin token (“GYEN”) is a cryptographic token, which allows financial market participants to transact in a digital asset that has been strictly pegged 1:1 to the Japanese Yen by the Company. GYEN is a token that has launched on both the Ethereum network and Stellar network. The total number of GYEN tokens in circulation is fully and transparently viewable at all times by anyone through any publicly available Ethereum block explorer (e.g. Etherscan.io) and Stellar block explorer (e.g. Stellarchain.io). The Company maintains the reserves securing GYEN in fiat currency held in FDIC insured bank accounts or SIPC insured brokerage accounts.

3. DISCUSSIONS RELATED TO DIGITAL ASSETS GENERALLY

As of the date of this report, digital assets remain an evolving area of technology and market place activity. Those who choose to invest in digital assets should inform themselves of the general risks and uncertainties associated with such assets.

(1) Digital assets can be owned anonymously. While the public keys of virtual wallets holding digital assets reside on the distributed networks and can be viewed publicly, the ownership of the wallets are normally not registered and therefore can be anonymous. Ownership of digital assets is evidenced primarily by the possession of the underlying private key (e.g. passcode). The possessor of the private key controls the corresponding digital asset wallet.

(2) Risk of irreversible transactions. Transactions for most digital assets that occur over the blockchain are generally irreversible, even if such transactions occur fraudulently or accidentally. If a private key is lost or fraudulently used, the digital assets in the corresponding wallet may not be recoverable.

(3) Regulatory uncertainty. Legislative and regulatory changes or actions at the state or federal level may change or affect the use, transfer, exchange, and value of digital assets. The effects of any such changes are not determinable as of the date of this report.
